OBTAIN START ON TON LITTER GLASS

Tews Brothers First to Enter—Harry Dahly Enters Big Duroc Litter.

Rock county is off to a flying start in the ton litter contest.

Tews Brothers, good market hog raisers at Hanover, were the first to nominate a litter. They have 11 Durocs ready for the pork race.

Harry Dahly, Janesville, dropped into the office Wednesday and advised that his Pathmaster sow farrowed 17 living Durocs on March 4, and they were going to be candidates for the weight honors. The same sow last year farrowed 15 pigs, but all were chilled and died.

This year Dahly was determined not to lose another expensive litter, as the dam is a well bred animal and the size Positive. Sensation. When the litter was named Dahly took the most of them into the house, and those that were chilled were held in warm water 15 or 20 minutes, rubbed dry, and after being covered in warm cloths, were kept near the fire. As a result of this effort and loss of sleep, Dahly saved the entire litter to the time being.

The dam is so large the "table is set for only six at a time." Consequently the litter is fed in three relays.

Both litters were inspected on at March 1, to prove that no pigs had been farrowed before the time limit for the contest. The county agent is to be notified of the nomination to make inspections. All litters will be weighed in 180 days time.

In addition to the good prizes to be offered at the two fairs in the county, state prizes will be given to the National Duroc-Jersey association in offering $50 for the championship litter. If the litter is sired by a registered Duroc, twenty dollars is offered to each litter. One of which is Rock county, for the district championship. County champions will compete for the state championship.

ALFAFA IS WORTH $75 AN ACRE TO FARMER

It will soon be time to put in alfalfa. The foresighted farmers are ordering seed and making arrangements to buy livestock. It will be impossible for the Farm Bureau crushers to supply more lime stone than has been contracted for at the present time. Farmers who need limestone should get in their orders to the commercial concerns at once, as they will soon be blocked with spring orders.

Even acres of alfalfa on every farm in Rock county is the goal for the progressive farmers. Alfalfa is worth $75 per acre. It will help the cow produce milk economically. It is the pre-eminent forage crop for dairy cows.

Don't forget to have your soil tested to see how much lime should be applied.

BATTLE SEEN OVER AIR BROADCASTING

Radio Station Sued by Big Company; Infringement on Patents Charged.

New York—A local fight for control of radio broadcasting is forecast as a result of the suit by the American Telephone and Telegraph company for a permanent injunction restraining station WBB, operated here by Marcus Loew and George Schubel, from broadcasting.

The request for an injunction is based on the contention that most broadcasting stations operating in the United States are using apparatus that infringes on the patent rights of the A. T. & T., which operates station WEAK.

Should the suit be successful, similar actions probably will be started against other broadcasting stations, except about 40, which have made arrangements with the A. T. & T.

Photographs of the station "All Aboard" may be obtained at any drug store, 50c each.

True Story of Woodrow Wilson

off my view of the ball. That is the reason I use a short swing."

The day after election, in 1916, the president and Dr. Grayson were playing No. 18 when they passed other players going down to No. 1.

"How is your game today, Mr. President?" one of the players called. Mr. Wilson waved his hand and said "All right."

Although the Virginia course which he played was a hard one he made it in the thirties, sometimes setting as low as 92.

Mr. Wilson really never took up golf seriously until after he entered public life. There is no doubt that the watchful attention given him at the White House, the insistence on recreation every day, had much to do with the prolongation of his life.

From a frail individual who never seemed in good health while at Princeton, the same man began to glow with the vigor of health after he reached the White House.

Mr. Wilson used to say that he needed eight hours sleep but required nine. He was one of the few persons who could fall fast asleep sitting in the front seat of an automobile or in a Pullman chair. He disliked ice water and always had difficulty getting what he wanted when he ordered cooled water. He did not take cream in his coffee. He drank moderately. Some of the newspapermen who accompanied him on the naval yacht "Sylph" down the Potomac to Alexandria on Washington's birthday, just after Secretary Daniels had made the navy "dry," remember his discomfort when he discovered that the dry order was being strictly enforced and that nobody on board had a stimulant. Mr. Wilson felt in need of it as he had been suffering from a cold for several days and the icy blasts sweeping across the river did not make him feel any better. "What Mr. Wilson thought or said about the 'dry' order that day was not made public. (Tomorrow's chapter deals with the whispering campaign about Mr. Wilson's private life.)

Don't Pay $1,000 or More for a car, without knowing what the leader offers in the fine-car field

We made a canvass of many who bought rivals of Studebakers. We said, "Tell us why you liked your car the better." The majority said, "We did not even look at the Studebaker." Most of them bought new models of the car they owned before.

Yet Studebaker is a leader in the fine-car field today. Studebaker builds more quality cars than any other plant in the world.

Studebaker is the sensation of modern Motordom. Its amazing growth signifies a new situation in this field.

Last year, 145,167 fine-car buyers paid $201,000,000 for Studebakers. Nearly three times as many as in 1920.

Is it fair to yourself—or fair to us—not to learn the reasons for this trend?

Facts to consider Studebaker assets are $90,000,000—all staked on satisfying, better than others, buyers of high-grade cars.

Over 23,000 men have their future at stake on giving you maximum values.

$50,000,000 in modern plants and equipment, of which $32,000,000 has been added during the past five years.

$10,000,000 in body plants to give you superlative beauty. To give that final touch for which Studebakers have been famous for decades.

125 experts who devote their whole time to studying betterments. Who make 500,000 tests per year to maintain our supremacy.

Consider Studebaker history. For 72 years this concern has stood for high principles and policies.

For two generations, against all the world, it held first place in horse-drawn vehicles.

The infinite care We use 35 formulas for steel, each worked out to exactness for supreme service in its place.

We employ 1,200 inspectors to make 30,000 inspections of the material and workmanship in each Studebaker car—before it leaves the factory.

Consider how Studebaker has always led in the building of high-grade cars. We were first to use cord tires, as standard equipment. We were the first quantity manufacturers to build bodies of the highest grade.

If you want beauty, fine upholstery, rich finish and equipment, consider that Studebaker has had more experience in fine coach building than any other motor car maker.

These are facts you should know. They are inducing 150,000 per year to choose Studebaker cars.

Now for years its name and fame have been committed to like attainments in fine motor cars.

If you only knew There is no room here for details and comparisons. You will find them all in Studebaker showrooms. But let us cite some significant facts.

That lack of vibration, so conspicuous in Studebakers, costs $600,000 yearly in extra machining of crank shafts.

That matchless strength in vital parts comes from the costliest steels. For some we add 15% to the quoted price to get exactness in them.

That Chase Mohair, used in our closed cars, is made from the soft fleece of Angora goats. Cotton or ordinary wool, or a combination of both, could reduce our price $100 to $150 per car, but it would sacrifice Studebaker quality.

Note the bumpers, the steel trunk, the extra cord tires, the motometer, the courtesy light on some models. Figure what they would cost as extras.

See the Studebakers Studebaker builds more fine cars than any other plant in the world.

Last year 145,167 wise motor car buyers paid $201,000,000 for Studebakers.

The demand has almost trebled in the past three years. Studebaker now holds a leading place in the high-grade field.

Our modern plants and their equipment cost $50,000,000. All to give you the maximum value at the minimum of cost.

It is folly to buy a car in this class without knowing what we give.

These are facts you should know. They are inducing 150,000 per year to choose Studebaker cars.

Some sell at $1,045. Some meet with every requirement in size and power and luxury. But the chassis are all alike, save in size. The same steels, the same standards throughout. Every important Studebaker part represents the best we know.

People have learned these facts—hundreds of thousands of them. The demand for Studebakers has almost trebled in three years. It has become overwhelming, even for our facilities.

Investigate the reasons. You will find them by the scores. Then, if you choose a rival car, we shall have nothing more to say.

PHILIPPINE STAND CAMPAIGN FODDER

Democrats Will Make Issue of Coolidge's Refusal of Plea.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—The democrats will make an issue of President Coolidge's refusal to approve the request of the senate and house of representatives of the Philippine islands for the establishment of independence.

For 26 years the Philippines have been promised that when the proper time came they would be accorded independence. President Coolidge has declined to approve the request of the senate and house of representatives of the Philippine islands for the establishment of independence.

Just when the Philippines will measure up to these standards is not difficult to guess—probably never. The lifetime of any of the present Philippine leaders. For if the truth be known, the United States does not consider that any of the small Latin-American republics have reached the American standard. The Philippines, on the other hand, think they are further advanced than Haiti or the Dominican republic. They have a long history of independence, and a long record of progress. They have a long history of independence, and a long record of progress.

The basic factor in the question of Philippine independence is materialistic. The business interests of the Philippines are united to their opposition to independence. Certain shipping interests believe they can accomplish more by keeping the Philippines a part of the United States than by the complete independence of the Philippines. The shipping interests believe they can accomplish more by keeping the Philippines a part of the United States than by the complete independence of the Philippines.

There are men in the United States who are in debate that the Philippines will never be ready for independence. Mr. Coolidge's statement reflects the argument heard most often by those who do not wish to see the United States relinquish its hold on the Philippines at any time—certainly not in the present generation.

The Philippines, however, will not cease their agitation. They will clamor for independence as long as they can make themselves heard. Preparations are under way for an extensive campaign in the United States to win the sympathy of public opinion. The democrats during the campaign will use every device in their power to win the sympathy of public opinion. The democrats during the campaign will use every device in their power to win the sympathy of public opinion.

The republican national platform will in all probability contain the lines of President Coolidge's latest pronouncement, while the democrats will pledge themselves if elected to grant independence to the Philippines within a specified period.

TOWN CAUCUSES DUE THIS MONTH

Must Be Held Before March 18—Election Materials Arriving.

Township caucuses will be held in the villages and townships of Rock county before March 18 to nominate the candidates for all the offices of the district to be voted upon at the election April 1. All of the town or village officers, supervisors (county board members)—town chairmen, clerks, assessors, treasurers and others—are named at the caucuses. Nearly all of the present county board members will again be re-elected from the caucuses, but not changing materially year after year.

Twelve ballot sheets will be sent out from the county clerk's office for making the election returns. Eight of these sheets will be on candidates as delegates for the national convention, two for the judicial election, two for the town or village election. This entire county goes on both the circuit court judge and that of the district municipal court. The ballot counts have been received from the state election manual, compiled by George Brown, election clerk of the secretary of state's office and the first of its kind in the country has been received from the secretary of state by County Clerk Howard W. Lee.

The manual is a 56-page leaflet, giving information on election laws and procedure. Every phase of the election work is taken up and discussed and laws governing each phase outlined. In addition, the leaflet contains a number of official rulings on election questions from the attorney general. Among these is an outline of questions on alien voters, absentee voting, and the requirements of married voters.

Election procedure of the governor of Wisconsin and the president is carried throughout the various stages as an example to election officials of methods.

One of the features of the booklet is a series of review questions to election officials to be used to benefit to election officers, but to students, women's clubs and others studying election laws.

Pond Tells Latin

Club of Journeys into French Caves

Europe, with special reference to archeology, was discussed by Alton Pond, Janesville, in an informal talk before the Latin club at the high school Wednesday afternoon. The many personal experiences while touring Europe, and the discovery of the most interesting part, but the descriptions of the caves of France, the ruins of ancient Rome and other sites of archeological interest, which Mr. Pond had an opportunity to see, through a scholarship which was granted him, were of unusual interest.

Drawings on the walls of the ancient caves in southern France, made by prehistoric man, were discussed among the most interesting sights to be seen in Europe, but it was advised that travelers should go into the caves in a party by themselves, rather than with a guide, as possible, and that they carry ordinary candles. The pictures must be picked out of a mass of darkness, and the pictures are not very clear, but the artist, Mr. Pond, is that the artist, in making his drawings, used the shadows cast by his own small lamp as a part of the picture.

Such diversified topics as the history of Italy, a picture of the modern city of Rome, the discovery of the pyramids, and how the required examination was passed by means of a rented taxicab and the "black-necked" which is not to be confused with the American picture, were also entertainingly treated.

The Revolution in Turkey.

Not all revolutions are of blood and fire.
 Turkey has been revolting for the last twelve months with Kemal Pasha as its leader, until we have only a racial semblance of the old Ottoman empire remaining, either in territory or tradition.
 The abolition of the office of the Caliph, head of the Moslem church, with which the state has always been allied, marks an end to the Turkey that was first founded on religion and has so continued up to the present. Kemal Pasha is a bold man. He has been supported in his attitude by the Turkish National Assembly and the Turkish people will eventually get used to the change.

The first step was taken more than a year ago when the sultan was shipped into exile and he was stripped of his caliphate office. The Caliph being the head of the church. Now the Mohammedan religion is without a recognized head. The caliph is in exile without his harem of 802 wives and concubines and there is a whole household of women to be disposed of, which is a serious consideration in Turkey now. Church and state have been separated. The mosques, hundreds of them, will be turned into schools and public halls. If churches are maintained they will be only by private support and individual effort. There will be no longer excuse to massacre Jews and Christians because they have a different religion—all will be equal in a religious way in Turkey.

Tremendous changes are going on in this world and none have been greater or more revolutionary than this act of Turkey in separating the national government from the church administration.

Oil paintings in the national capitol may have to be removed in order to satisfy Senator Heflin.

In a Serious Predicament

When the Mullin-Gage bill was repealed and Al Smith signed it, the repealer was hailed as the saving grace of a new born sense of liberty by the legislature of New York and Al Smith as the white hope of the enemies of the Volstead law.
 But out of it has come a new criminal activity that has caused a revolution in sentiment among the better citizens of the state, many of whom favored the repeal at the time, and the governor himself is now facing the passage of a measure which will permit the police powers of the state to have some regulatory laws behind them in the suppression of crime closely allied with the violations of the liquor laws.

Newspapers of New York, which called the repeal of the Mullin-Gage law something akin to the Declaration of Independence, have abandoned on the question. The governor alarmed over the laxity in liquor cases and the breaking down of enforcement, together with the growth of crime from bootlegging centers, summoned the district attorneys of the state and to them he read a lecture. They said the liquor laws could not be enforced unless there was an enforcement law and they at once proceeded to draft one.
 The governor now has this on his hands with public opinion by a great majority apparently in favor of the new law. Behind it also is the great police army of the state, who want the law. The prosecuting officers know that the liquor violation is no longer a mere violation of a single law but is the result of a conspiracy of crime, and unless the liquor laws are enforced other crimes closely related and committed by the same persons concerned in bootlegging, cannot be checked, and there will continue to be a serious problem to halt any of the crime evils. That is a predicament for the governor which he is now facing.

Mr. Brookhart says he will permit Mr. Daugherty to have a square deal before the investigating committee. That's nice.

A Thousand Teapot Domes.

We are making a lot of worry over Teapot Dome and other associated oil disclosures having to do with losses to the government in one way and another. But there are a thousand or more oil scandals each year which take more millions from the purses of the American people than do all the Sinclair and Dohenys put together. We refer to the wild cat oil stocks and the one after the other frauds perpetrated on the American public through the use of the United States mails.
 We need a greater protection of the public.

Some day we shall not permit the mails to be used for the sale of stocks of this kind until we have every such promoter show a certificate from an investigating board with an advance deposit for the protection of investors. The crooks may be wiped out then and these little "Teapot Domes" reeking with fraud be eliminated from out list of losses.

The bung starter bloc has not even started to start.

Looking Up the Record of Jim Jans Reed

We are interested in Jim Reed—no one would ever think of dignifying this tornado from the Missouri river bottoms with so staid a name as Jans—since here in Wisconsin we have met the gentleman. It was nearly four years ago when the democratic senator came into the state and talked for Blaine and Thompson, mostly for Thompson who was defeated. At that time Jim

STANDARDIZING DENTISTRY

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Washington.—Greater efficiency in patched teeth might be the slogan of scientists at the bureau of standards who are conducting experiments with dental materials. Dental amalgam has already been standardized by the government, and now gold is being studied for the same purpose.

Gold has been favored material for dental work since the earliest records of crude dental carpentry. Egyptian mummies with gold in their teeth have been found, though it has never been known whether the Egyptians had developed a method of filling aching cavities with gold, or whether the gold was put in after death as an ornament. It may seem far fetched to consider that the teeth were filled after death, but this is not unlikely in view of the fact that gold was often coated over the eyebrows, lips, teeth and tongue of a mummy.

There is no doubt, however, that gold wire was used in Egypt to fasten teeth in place, and gold ring appliances to hold false teeth firm. were known in Tuscany before Christ. By the 15th century gold leaf was being used to fill teeth—though not with very permanent success.

Considering how many centuries gold has been used in dentistry, it might be supposed that this would not be a fertile field for research. The fact is, scientific dentistry is only about 40 years old.
 So far most dentists, being medical men, have been more interested in diseases and dental hygiene than in the mechanical problems, which require specialized knowledge of physics and chemistry.

The value of gold that is wasted by inept use in dental work and buried with the dead is estimated at $5,000,000 a year. This sum can be cut to a great extent by standardization of gold use in dentistry and by standardization of mechanical dental work. Poor material packed into a small cavity sooner or later wears away or ceases to fit the cavity perfectly. Then bacteria gets in, decay starts again, and a larger cavity has to be drilled by the dentist and filled, and so on until the tooth is lost and an entire false tooth is necessary. The majority of large cavities, crowns, and bridges are said to be the result of recurrent decay.

No less than 100 different formulas for dental gold are now in use. The best of these all have champions among the dental professions. Dentists buy their material from local houses, and their methods of shopping are not unlike those of a housewife in a grocery. If a certain road is put out by a reputable manufacturer she tries it and if the family is satisfied and there are no unpleasant after effects she continues to swear by that brand.

But, the bureau of standards points out, there must be one superior formula for a given kind of work, because making a gold inlay for a tooth or filling a cavity is a mechanical job. According to dental scientists, the best foreign material transplanted to the tooth either fits it satisfactorily, or it falls in some way. A successful dental repair material contains no harmful ingredients, it does not disfigure the mouth, it is strong enough to be serviceable, and it is durable. These qualities in dental fillings can all be put to the test, just as cement for broken china could be tested. And the government scientists believe that it should be possible to find the best formula and the best method for producing the dental materials. Until now, such tests have been lacking almost completely.

The dental research of the government started in wartime, when the surgeon general of the army was buying amalgam at the rate of some 10,000 ounces at a time. So many kinds of amalgam, all highly praised by their makers, were offered to the army that the surgeon general asked the bureau of standards to establish a standard for a satisfactory amalgam. A number of manufacturers who cooperated with the bureau in the amalgam research have adopted the high standard set by the government.

Reports of this work attracted the attention of the dental profession. The bureau of standards began to receive requests for similar work with gold inlay material. Requests came from the American Dental Association, from dental colleges and laboratories, and from dentists in the United States, Canada and even Australia.

With the cooperation of the Weinstein Research Laboratories, the bureau has called to begin the work. Dr. Wilmer Souder, who is in charge of the experiments, says that the problem of amalgam filling was simple compared with the standarization of gold for dental inlays. A gold in-lay—which is a form of repair work that is becoming increasingly popular—is a much more complicated piece of work than a filling. A gold inlay may be nothing more than a small speck.
 But often, when a cavity is exceptionally large, an entire layer of the tooth is taken off for a short distance down from the top. A single piece of gold is then made to fill the cavity exactly and to form a cap over the top of the tooth.

This restores the broad crushing surface of a single material which the natural tooth had. When only a shell of the tooth remains an inlay is much stronger and more durable than an ordinary filling. Since the pressure on the teeth during hard chewing amounts to thousands of pounds to a square inch, crushing strength is an important factor in restoring teeth.

To make an inlay requires from three to eight processes. According to the simplest method, the shape of the cavity has to be taken in wax.
 This wax model is placed in a plaster-of-paris compound, and when the compound hardens the wax has to be carefully removed by heat so as to leave a cavity in the compound exactly the size and shape of the tooth cavity. This is filled with molten gold, and when the gold hardens it is fast into the tooth with a little cement. With some new steps involved in the making of an inlay, and with a confusing variety of directions to choose from, the dentist may find that careful work falls to restore a tooth to usefulness.

Dr. Souder and Dr. L. Coleman, Jr., of the Weinstein Laboratories have had to invent and build a number of intricate pieces of apparatus, because no laboratory instruments in existence would test with sufficient accuracy the shrinkage or elastic properties of dental materials. No attempt is being made to test the materials with human subjects. Nor have the fillings been fitted into rows of detached teeth in the laboratory. All of the tests are made with mechanical apparatus of highest precision.

him out of the democratic convention. As a democrat he supported Selden Spencer, now republican senator from Missouri and as a democratic candidate for the senate he lost the democratic counties and was elected by the vote of republican cities like St. Louis. During the war he was many times bitterly denounced for his attitude against the measures of the government in the conduct of the war and it was largely on this record and the fact that he opposed the league of nations and the Wilson policies, that he was tes-seled overboard by his democratic neighbors in Missouri. So far as we are concerned we are willing that Reed should be a candidate for the presidency on the democratic ticket. He would be like Artemus Ward's monkey, "An amusin' cuse," and add a touch of humor to an otherwise deadly dull and serious campaign. Reed is never at his best so much as when playing the buffoon.

It is terrible how many innocent lawyers have been led astray by the great corporations into taking large fees. Something certainly should be done for their protection.

JUST FOLKS

THE BOOIL.

Be sure you're right, then go ahead—but dodge the fate of William G.
 Who always thought that he was right, as right as man could ever be.
 Bill scorned the simplest rules of life and spurned the best advice he was given.
 And thought that every man on earth was thinking wrong, except himself.
 He had the manners of a boor. When friends stood back, he wore his hat—Convention could not stifle him; he'd do no fooling things like that.
 "Eat with his knife?" Of course he would. Let others call it impolite, It suited him to eat that way and he believed that he was right.

"There's nothing wrong with you," said Bill, "I never steal or cheat or lie, I pay whatever I may owe and so the wide world I defy.
 I'll eat my food the way I choose; now try to change my mind, you can't."
 There wasn't any law which says that I must be a gentleman.

And Bill was right about it, too. There is no law in black and white.
 Upon the nation's statute books which forces men to be polite.
 But who will not fall into line and live as oth-

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1924.

Astrologers read this as rather a doubtful day, for the planetary direction is not strong. While Mercury and the Sun are mildly benefic in their influences, Mars dominates the celestial scene.
 Advertising and publicity of a personal nature should be pushed today, for it will be likely to ward off unfavorable opinions.

Those ventures of every sort should be avoided and special care should be taken in making investments.
 Again it will be evident that the world is far from peace and in certain quarters danger of war will be imminent.

All the kindly stars appear to promise legislation of a character that benefits humanity and child labor is to be restricted, in all probability.
 While lawmakers seek to protect children there will be an increase of crimes in which they are victims, the secret foretold.
 There is a sign promising for shipping and an extension of commerce with South American ports.

Much travel to Europe will mark the early spring and summer and will have an effect on certain international problems.
 There is a sign indicating unusual negotiations in which Great Britain and the United States will be interested.

Political parties are to be torn with internal dissensions. If the stars are read aright, and there will be much treachery in places where it is least to be expected, astrologers foretell.
 Personal vendettas, including the use of executors and libel suits will be easily precipitated, it is prognosticated.

Secrecy and intrigue are to mark campaigns of candidates for nominations, but the stars appear to favor the more open methods.

A political leader famous for long service is to gain new place outside of his party, if the stars are read aright.

Persons whose birthdate is 18 have the forecast of a quiet, uneventful year. Young women may expect many suitors.

Children born on this day may have many vicissitudes in business life. Those subjects of Pisces may be too kind to do justice to their talents. The stars indicate that the subject taught to avoid worry and small anxieties of every sort.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

March 6, 1884.—A regular meeting of the Stock company, held Tuesday night. Colonel B. Britton offered his resignation, which was accepted by the company. Colonel Britton became a member of the Stock company in June, 1869, and has been a member three months longer, could have shown a record of 15 years service.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

March 6, 1894.—Henry C. Stearns is being bonded for the guardianship of the first ward by the republicans. The republicans last evening prevented the meeting of the board of education.
 According to S. C. Burnham, the local weather clerk, the fall amounted to one-half inch of water.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

March 6, 1904.—A new horse and carriage had been purchased by the golf club for conveyance from the cars to the grounds. Bernard Pufahl will again be in charge of the grounds, and will drive the northbound interurban car, due here at 10:45 a. m., left the track near the Otteman farm this morning.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.

Every woman has lost on her face.
 She will discover this hair, decide that it is "superfluous" and launch upon a fruitless and expensive course of experimentation.
 The hair on every woman's face is down, practically invisible, but like the spots before one's eyes readily apparent if you make a business of looking for them. As a general rule this hair, at least in the case of a girl or young woman, remains forever unnoticeable provided it is not stimulated to excessive growth.

There are several chemicals which will give a fairly close shave without dangerous irritation of the skin.
 It is a common notion that the use of creams, oils or grease upon the face "grows hair," or stimulates the excessive growth of the natural down.
 There is no ground for such a belief, though the application of irritants of this kind does tend to stimulate growth of hair. Perhaps the most excessive friction, rubbing or massage of the face does so. But the proper use of such cosmetics as a woman needs is necessary to make herself attractive will never cause a growth of hair.

Certain disturbances of ductless gland function seem to be characterized by the growth of hair on superfluous areas of the face, but this is only one feature of such disturbances.
 Single hairs may be destroyed by electrolysis, or by a group of hairs at a sitting. This mode of treatment is especially desirable when a tuft of hairs or a number of hairs in a limited area of skin are to be removed. Electrolysis destroys the hair follicle or root so that the hair never grows again.

X-ray treatment is employed with considerable success nowadays for the permanent removal of superfluous hair. Many of the most skillful operators are reluctant to use X-ray for the treatment of superfluous hair because of the risk of inducing a possible X-ray burn, but in other situations it is the only method.

The Book of Opportunity
It is so natural for some things to be as they are that you never stop to think of the annoyance they would cause if they were otherwise.
Take a book, for instance. You find the pages numbered and arranged consecutively. You expect and demand this. You would not waste a minute reading a book whose pages were otherwise.
On the other hand, you do not expect to find opportunities numbered and arranged consecutively for your convenience. And you won't find them this way—except in one place.
The A-B-C Classified Section!
There is no more reason for your spending hours seeking a certain opportunity than there is for your reading a book whose pages are bound at random.
There is a Book of Opportunity—correctly indexed and correctly arranged. It means easy finding and easy profit.
Read it and heed it daily!
